June Highlights

National Award-Winner Alastair Book is Back!

ACMi is thrilled to announce that two of our original productions won national Hometown Video awards for 2016-17! In addition to "Recycle Right," a primer on what can and cannot be recycled produced by Arlington's Recycling Coordinator, Charlotte Milan, our other winner – in the category of Mixed and Transmedia – was A. Book's Review. ACmi member-producer Cyn is the creative force behind this wholly original blend of animation, puppetry, and live action, in which "Alastair Book" (yes, that's right, he IS a book) reviews all kinds of literary works and interviews their authors. The latest episode welcomes writer and musician Tony McMillen, an enthusiastic guest who shares both his books and his music with Alastair, and with you. Suffused with dry humor and sharp insights, this series is unlike anything else on TV, truly. See for yourself, on the Public channel.

State Senate Special Election

The race for the Fourth Middlesex District State Senate seat that was held by Ken Donnelly until his death earlier this year has drawn three candidates - Cindy Friedman, Sean Garballey, and Mary Ann Stewart. Between now and the primary on Tuesday, June 27, ACmi's Government channel will regularly rebroadcast the Candidates' Forum recently held at Town Hall. PLUS we will air a block of Candidate Profiles, in which we sit down with each candidate to delve deeply into issues like local aid for Arlington, the future of the MBTA, criminal justice reform, and more. Our aim is to help you make the most informed decision when you vote on June 27th!

Check Out "What's New, Massachusetts"

Although at ACmi we are proud of our wealth of excellent original programming, we also welcome the opportunity to introduce our viewers to worthy content that comes from outside of Arlington. One of our latest offerings is "What's New, Massachusetts," a magazine-style show that travels around the state featuring people, events, and establishments that give different areas their distinctive personalities. This engaging program recently relocated its main set to our sister station in Somerville, SCATV, and aims to continue to produce a new episode every month, shining its light on all corners of the state. You'll find it airing on our Public channel at various times throughout the week.
