April Highlights

LIVE Coverage of the 2018 Patriots' Day Parade

Springtime is upon us, and that means action! You can (finally!) see the signs of annual renewal in the natural world around us, which is reflected as well in the rhythms of public activities in Arlington. One of the classic rituals of spring is coming up on Sunday, April 15 – Arlington's 2018 Patriots' Day Parade. Floats are being constructed, uniforms pressed, and dance routines choreographed in anticipation of the day's festivities! ACMi's LIVE coverage begins at 2 pm on our Public channel.

Arlington Philharmonic – Great Music, and More

The Arlington Philharmonic is one of the area's little cultural treasures, with talented amateur musicians under the leadership of a professional conductor bringing the breadth of the classical catalog to our doorstep. The Philharmonic's current conductor, Orlando Cela, has made the orchestra's artistry even more accessible by creating the "Music Gazing" series on ACMi. Each episode includes a full Philharmonic performance, and much more. Through his own research and interviews with featured performers and composers, Maestro Cela prepares the audience for the music they are about to hear, enriching the experience for viewers by providing background and context for the music itself. An excellent example is the episode that focuses on the composer Florence Price, whose Symphony #1 was the first work by an African-American woman to be performed by a major American orchestra (the Chicago Symphony in 1933). Maestro Cela puts that achievement into historical context, along with the rest of Florence Price's remarkable biography. Then the Philharmonic nails its performance of the Symphony #1! Look for this gem on the Public channel, airing regularly throughout the week.

Youth Filmmakers on Display

Last month's A-Town Teen Video Festival was a resounding success, as youth filmmakers from Arlington and a number of towns in the area showcased their work in an impressive display of creativity. It was the Festival's fifth year, and the slate of films was the strongest yet. ACMi is delighted to let you see for yourself, as we present the majority of the videos in a block on our Education channel, under the title "A-Town Teen Film Festival."
