January Highlights

AHS Rebuild Community Forum Will Be Aired LIVE

Arguably the project with the widest impact on the entire community that looms in the next few years is the rebuild of Arlington High School, which is likely to be the most expensive single undertaking in the town's history. With the school system at the very center of the demographic changes we are experiencing, it is not just the financial impact on Arlington households that makes this project so compelling, but also the effects it is likely to have for generations to come. It's with good reason, then, that the school department is presenting a series of public forums on this topic. The second of these is coming up on Wednesday, February 7, at 7pm in the main auditorium at Town Hall, and will focus on the educational vision for the high school. An overview of 21st century teaching and learning methods will be presented, and AHS Principal Matthew Janger will highlight current and potential future offerings at AHS. ACMi will carry this forum LIVE on our Government channel, with regular rebroadcasts thereafter. You can also access it On Demand on our website - acmi.tv.

It's a New Episode of In the Tradition (surprise!)

Those of you with a finely tuned ability to recognize sarcasm will note the example in the title - nothing could be LESS surprising than the appearance of another excellent installment in one of our most respected series! In the Tradition host Alan Kaufman continues to mine the deep vein of connections he has developed over the decades in the world of traditional American music, and for Episode 24 he welcomes a unique banjoist, Lauck Benson. A resident of Natick, Lauck has spent a lifetime intrigued by the variety of expressions this remarkable instrument is capable of, including bluegrass, old-time, classical music pieces and minstrel songs and tunes. You'll find In the Tradition in its usual time slots on the Public channel.

Ottoson Principal Candidates Meet the Community (and vice versa)

The Ottoson Middle School has been conducting a search for a new principal for a number of months, and the three finalists for that position had an opportunity to engage with town residents at the Ottoson on a recent Wednesday evening. Each candidate had 30 minutes to address the audience and then field a series of questions. ACMi captured all of the proceedings and will air them on the Government channel as well as On Demand through our website. A couple of themes emerging from the questions were the anticipated changes at the Ottoson, given that it will be comprised of only 7th and 8th graders as of Fall 2018, and the nature and extent of the teacher evaluation process each candidate would implement. After upcoming site visits, the search committee hopes to make its decision by mid-February.
