May Highlights

“Eat Sleep Dance Repeat” Debuts
ACMi member-producer Jamie Joseph is a dancer and choreographer who has been working with Arlington Children’s Theater and other performance groups in the area for several years. She had an ambition to create a series of how-to dance videos geared to both beginning dancers and those preparing to audition for shows and ensembles. Jamie reached out to ACMi with her idea, took advantage of the training and support all our members receive, and voila! We are delighted to introduce this brand-new series, Eat Sleep Dance Repeat. The first episode, currently airing several times a week on our Public channel, contains all the elements Jamie will present throughout the series. In a clear and easy-to-follow process, each 30-minute installment will teach a complete dance in a step-by-step manner that is accessible to all, and even includes warm-up and cool-down exercises! It all makes for a lively, educational, fun experience that will leave you ready to strut your stuff at the next available opportunity...

Latest “In the Tradition” is a Sneak Preview

In the most recent episode of “In the Tradition,” host Alan Kaufman has a special treat in store for longtime viewers. It is already exciting that virtuoso blues guitarist Andy Cohen is making a return visit to Studio A, but it gets even better from there. You see, Alan will join Andy for a set of four dates all over New England from April into May, and in this episode the pair showcase a number of the tunes with which they will surely be delighting audiences throughout the region. While others will be paying for the privilege, we invite you to enjoy this sterling set of musical selections in the comfort of your own home, by either tuning in to “In the Tradition” in its usual weekly timeslots on our Public channel, or accessing it on our website at acmi.tv. Andy and Alan are true masters of their craft who take obvious great joy in making music together – see (and hear) for yourself!

AHS Spring Sports on ACMi

Springtime is upon us, and that means action – AHS sports action, specifically! Building on the momentum that began with football and soccer in the fall, and continued throughout the (interminable) winter with hockey and basketball, ACMi’s crack sports coverage team is tackling the challenge of covering spring sports, including games that have never been recorded before. The latest Boys’ Lacrosse match is currently airing in full multi-camera splendor. Boys’ Volleyball, Baseball, and Ultimate Frisbee are also in our sights for this spring season. It’s all on our Education channel!
