September Highlights

Arlington Town Day 2018 is in the Books (and on TV!)
 Reports from ACMi veterans and Town Day attendees alike confirm that the 2018 edition was one of the busiest and most exciting in memory. The persistent cloud cover was welcomed by many, and allowed us to focus on the exceptionally fine music, superb local food, and festive intermingling of the many groups, organizations, and causes that are of essential importance to Arlington and its residents. As always, ACMi provided live coverage of the day's events, thanks to the tireless efforts of nearly 30 staff and volunteers of all ages. Folks who visited our booth and mobile studio got to sample a little VR (Virtual Reality) tour of the town, check out our brand new drone, and make memories of their own in front of our green screen! If you couldn't make it to this special day of celebration – or if you just want to relive some or all of the experience again, you'll find our coverage on the Public channel airing throughout coming weeks in highly digestible two-hour segments. It was a genuinely wonderful day – tune in and see for yourself!

Back-to-Back Home Games for AHS Football

To the accompaniment of Town Night fireworks, the Arlington High Spy Ponders opened the 2018 football season last Friday with a firecracker of a game against Stoneham. The two teams set a blistering scoring pace, with six touchdowns in the first half alone (!) A high-spirited crowd took it all in, as did ACMi's crack sports production team (made up largely of AHS students). If you weren't there yourself, you're in luck – we'll be airing the game throughout the rest of the week on our Education channel. The Spy Ponders take the field again tomorrow night before their home crowd, taking on our neighbors from Winchester High. And you guessed it – ACMi will once again carry the game LIVE, with rebroadcasts throughout the following week. Go Ponders!

Never Too Early for Halloween Chills

As we move into the latter part of September, at ACMi we can't help but anticipate the fun programming we have lined up for October in the lead-up to Halloween. This week we debut a horror movie program hosted by Penny Dreadful, a fun-loving witch who is joined by her "Snarling Darling" husband Garou (a werewolf), and the semi-retired monster hunter Dr. Manfred Von Bulow. Penny and her mates present classic horror and sci-fi films and provide humorous narrative breaks every twenty to thirty minutes. The show also features musical numbers, interviews with special guest stars, and visits to spooky historical locations. It's crystal (ball)-clear that the hosts are having a terrific time, and we hope you will too! The show is called Penny Dreadful's Shilling Shockers, and you'll find it on our Public channel in an appropriate late-night time slot.
